The Fit Faker Recovers in Jail Double Wedding at St. Joseph's.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, VA., May 9.-Voting booths will be used at the primary election on May 16th. The Democratic City Central Committee has decided to adop this plan in order to enable the voter to prepare his ballot privately, which has not been customary here for some time. It is said that in municipal elections in this city, some people, in order to avoid displaying their choice of candidates, have obtained ballots at the polls in the morning and returned to vote in the

The committee has appointed eighteen judges of election, three for each of the six wards. The registrars will act as clerks.

HANG THE OLD GATE.

The polide are summoning people to the Mayor's Court for violating a city ordinance requiring all street gates to open within. A fine of two dollars each was imposed on a large number of property owners this morning. There is some talk of an appeal being taken to test the legality of the ordinance. The case of F, J. Starr, the fit fakir, who has been receiving alms from sympathizing people by having imitation fits in public places, was continued for five days in the Mayor's Court to-day in order to give the police time for further investigation. Starr fins several aliases, and is believed to have operated in several places, among them, Blackstone, where he was very successful. His health has improved since his arrest yesterday evening; no fits have appeared, and the mention of a doctor is not welcomed.

DOUBLE WEDDING.

A double wedding took place at St. Joseph's Catholic Church at 8 o'clock this morning. The brides were sisters, and all parties were from Chesterfield county. Miss Mary Michalek was married to Harry Irving Whelan, and Miss Antonie Michalek to Matey Merhout. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father James Glisenin, who has charge of the church during Father O'Farrell's absence in Europe.

Rev. W. M. Vines, of Norfolk, a well known Baptist evangelist, preached to-day at the factory of the Seward-Trunk and Bag Company. A series of several meetings, which have begun most successfully, are being conducted at the First Baptist Church by Rev. Mr. Vines and Rev. W. C. Taylor, pastor of the church. Mr. Vines will preach every night this week.

James H. Balley has gone to St. Louis to attend the Grand Council of the Catholic Knights of America. Mr. Bailey is the only Virginia delegate.
Rev. P. A. Cave, of Richmond, preached the first of a series of special sermons at the Park View Christian Church last night.

List of Town Officers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

TAZEWELL, VA. May 8.—At a called meeting of Democrats held here to-day the following ticket was nominated: For Mayor, E. V. Spotts; recorder, T. A. Repass, Jr.; councilmen—G. W. St. Clair. Alex. St. Clair. Henry Hampton, J. T. Helroh, Dr. J. H. Crockett and J. W. Chapman. This is the first time for a number of years that the Democrats of the town have put a ticket in the field. However, the town is strongly Democratic. It is not known whether the Republicans will put a ticket in the field or not. The third monthly sales of the Tazewell horse and mule market was held here to-day. Some of Tazewell's best stock was exhibited and a good many sales were made to out-of-town buyers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RALEIGH, N. C., May 9.—At a meeting of the North Carolina Educational Campaign Committee held last night.
Governor Glenn, Dr. Charles D. McIver, State Superintendent Joyner and Secretary R. D. W. Connor participating, a programme was outlined for the raily day to be held in Greensboro June 16th, in connection with the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly. It was decided that the principal addresses will be delivered by Governor Glenn and ex-Governor Aycock. Plans were also formulated for the prosecution of a vigorous summer campaign along educational lines. Dr. McIver says the assembly at Greensboro this year is sure to be the largest and most successful ever held in the State.

The North Carolina Grand Lodge of Odd-Fellows convened in this city this afternoon and will hold sessions Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The reports of officers show that the past year has been an exceptionally prosperous one—a net gain of over 1,200 in membership and an increase of over $1.60 per member in the money raised, more than $20,000 beins an increase of over $1.60 per member in the money raised, more than $20,000 being THE DELINEATOR FOR JUNE.

A striking cover, in the form of a girl's head in pastel, by George Gibbs, introduces the reader of the June Delineator to avaried and interesting table of contents, supplemented by a complete summary of the season's styles and the latest news from the world of fashion. In the literary portion of the magazine, Weymer Jay Mills contributes the first of a series of "Romances of Summer Resorts," which promise much of interest, pictorially and otherwise. A noteworthy feature also is F. Berkeley Smith's description of "A Corner in Normandy," an enjoyable travel/sketch that gives more than a passing glance at one of the most curious nooks in the Old World. For the benefit of those who have the collecting instinct, N. Hudson Moore writes on old glass, in "The Collector's Manual," and Dr. Murray discusses the care of the eyes and ears in a paper that will appeal particularly to young mothers and those who have the care of children. Newman's hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," is the subject of a paper by Allan Sutherland in the series "Famous Hymns of the World." In the matter of feltion, Albert Bigelow Paine's serial, "The Lucky-Piece," proceeds along pleasing lines, and Helen Choate Prince-contributes a short story of great strongth and charm. Grace MacGowan Cooke adds a chapter in the annusing history of Son Riley Rabbit, and L. Frank Baum gives an animal fairy tale, called "The Pea-Green Poodle," both of which will not fail to delight the little folks. In addition, there are house plans and housefurnishing ideas, and many pages devoted to the particular interests of the home, including, among other features, a paper on "The Practical Side of the Wedding," and a variety of suggestions for kitchen southers.

AVOID CONTAGION

Disinfect Freely with Platt's Chlorides

Contagious and intectious diseases are prevalent. The use of a reliable disinfectant protects the household. Dusty or damp corners and cracks—nooks behind plumbling and all spots that can't be reached by the scrubbing brush, should be freely spirinkled with a mixture of one (1) part Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. THIS DILUTION COS'S LESS THAN 5 CENTS A QUART. Use it freely in the waste-pipes, sinks and closets and do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objection able odors where sprinkling is inadvisable a cloth, wrung out of the dilution mentioned, should be placed over or near the article. A little extra care just now may prevent much sickness and expense. Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, coloriess liquid which instantly destroys foul odors and disease-breeding matter. It has been freely submitted to Physicians, Sanitarians and Boards of Health for 25 years, and over 25,000 written endorsements have been received from them. It is sold everywhere in full quart bottles, and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt, New York.

expended in a relief fund. The Orphans' Home is better equipped than ever before. More lodges were formed the last year than ever before in North Carolina. The grand oillors are Henry E. Biggs, Scotland Neck, grand master; Thomas M. Stephens, Durham, grand warden; B. H. Woodell, Ralielja, grand secretary, and R. J. Jones, Wilmington, grand treasurer.

Governor Glenn decided this morning that he will hold the Wadesboro crooks to answer the charge of carrying concaled wapons in Anson county, instead of turning them over 10 the South Carolina authorities, where they are wanted for breaking into the Heath Springs bank. The Governor's action in holding the men in this State instead of honoring the requisition from South Carolina, is at the suggestion of the Governor of South Carolina, made in a letter received to-day, written in response to a communication from Governor Glenn, laying before the South Carolina Chief Executive the situation.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., May 9.—Benin-

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., May 9.—Benjamin Boyce, eighteen years old, son of a prominent grocer, was arrested here tonight on a warrant sworn out in Hampton, charging him with forgery.

It is charged that the boy presented a check to the Bank of Hampton to-day, drawn in favor of L. P. Wade and signed "Barnes and White," a firm of grocers in this city. On the back of the check was endorsed with the names of "L. P. Wade," who is a cigarmaker, and J. F. Rowe, a well known merchant in Hampton.

The cashier of the Bank of Hampton recognized that Mr. Rowe's name was not signed as usual, and started an investigation, which led to the arrest of young Boyce.

The Hampton officers stated to-night that the young man had confessed.

Hears of Son's Marriage.

'(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, May 9.—On what he knows to be his deathbed, the Rev. Henry II. Barbour, pastor of the North Baptist Church, in Newark, N. J., has learned of the marriage of his son, lernest, to Chinquilla, a vaudeville performer, who is said to be the daughter of Löhe Star, a full-blooded Cherenge chief. She is a graduate of the Carlisle Indian School and speaks several languages fluently. She preferred life on the stage to the quieter existence of home life until she met Mr. Barbour. News of the marriage came as a great shock to the young man's father, and it is feared it will bring to an end the series of sermons which he has lately been sending to be read by his congregation and which have been widely copied in newspapers of other cities.

MISS MURPHY, of Front Royal.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FRONT ROYAL, VA., May 9.—Miss Martha Charlotte Murphy, daughter of Colonel Robinson Barr Murphy and Mrs. Lina V. Murphy, of Front Royal, Va., will be married to Mr. Charles A. Macatee, Jr., of Clifton Forge, Va., Thursday evening, May 11th, at 6 o'clock, at the Calvary Episcopal Church, Front Royal, Va.

Miss Murphy is a blonde of rare beauty, possessing exceptional musical talents, and has been recognized as one of the handsomest women of the Valley of Virginia. Her father was awarded a medal of honor by Congress for conspicuous bravery in front of Atlanta, Ga., on the 28th of July, 1864, at which time he was only fifteen years of age, and had his horse shot from under him while there leading two regiments into battle. The groom is a graduate in the academic department at Washington and Lee University, a bachelor of law of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., a prominent and exceedingly popular member of the Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity, and is now associated with the legal department of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, Company, having offices at Clifton Forge, at which place he will make his future home.

met at the train by quite a crown of mis-own admirers.

Rev. W. E. Warren then introduced County Superintendent J. D. Eggleston, of Prince Edward, who is a candidate for State superintendent. After telling a pleasant, joke to the crowd, which had been in session all day, he went into a speech which was the best exposition of the school question in Virginia ever heard here.

He thought the trouble of local taxation

He said nine months was too long, but five months was too short. Get a boy to the common schools, to church and to public speaking and to reading his county papers, and he will be an educated man at thirty-five years or a fool.

His speech was well received, and he took the oportunity offered to shake the hands of many of the sovereigns of Appomentox. There were many Montague men out to hear the senator, and he was met at the train by quite a crowd of his own admirers.

Chatham, president; L. E. Harper, of Spring Garden, vice-president; Miss Henrietta Watkins, of Chatham, secretary; Miss Josephine Allen, of Dry Fork, treas-committee was left with the president.

Mr. Ellyson remained over as the guest of Mayor Hargrave.

Body on Texas Frontier.

"Many years ago, when, during a fight with Indians on the Texas frontier, an arrow shot by a redskin pierced the body of Pitzhigh Lee, it was thought by his brother soldiers that the wound was mortal," said an old friend of the lamented Virginian, at the New Wilard.
"A terrible hemorrhage set up, and Lee's face took on a death-like pullor, which was taken as a sign of imminont dissolution. Still he preserved consciousness, and in feeble tones made some requests of his friends about sending word to his family. "While in this desperate situation, one of his comrades in a blundering effort to impart cheer, exhibited his hat to the wounded man, and showed where a bullet had perforated the crown.

"The Indians came pretty close to getting me, too, Fitz," he said.
"A sickly smile played over the features of Fitzingh Lee, and in a whisper he romarked: 'Oh, come off, now, George, about Indians shooting that hole in your hat. You know very well that you went off down yonder by the creek and put that hole in yourself.' One who was present and who was on the verge of tears told me afterward that when he heard this jest from the lips of a man supposed to be dying, he immediately took comfort. Any man who could joke at such a time wasn't going to die, and he was right, for in a little while Lee began to improve, and it wasn't long before he was chasing Comanches as merrily as ever."—Washington Post.
